It's Ljuboten, "A volcano that doesn't even have a crater, but there is a lake on the top and all that can be seen of Ljuboten is a mound of snow. In the past, this was a huge and famous volcanic hill, and already the process of erosion that continues today, led to the formation of one of the most complete mounds in the world. But first, there is a very powerful flow of the hot gases that makes it a true volcano and leave the water of the lake which is hot. Experts say that it is possible that there are still potent vents under the snow, but it is unknown what is contained in the water. The volcano was added to the list of natural wonders of Europe and it is one of the most important natural phenomena in the country. Since 2000, the Croatian National Geographical Institute (CNGI) has been collecting data related to the volcano, but many of them are still not known. For example, when you enter the area of Ljuboten, you will find that all of the measurements and observations are recorded in a very comprehensive manner, but we do not know how they are compiled. As a result, after five years of research, experts managed to make a list of 39 types of information, but there is still more to know about this
