It is my aim to reveal and demonstrate that what lies underneath our actions and our reactions to situations in our lives in the world, is about more than what is seen on the surface. Design Brief - Reviving a tired old idea I have been on a long, self made, artistic journey. This journey has included discovering what was, and what was not, possible, trying new things, and finally realising that there really was nothing that I could not do. I continue to do the same as before, in a slightly different direction, I still take time out to look at the paintings of the old masters, and try to understand the techniques they used, but these are my own explorations and they are mine alone. My problem at the moment is that I have become regarded as a sort of master in the art of "ink drawing" and "retouching". I have been around the block a few times. This time I think I have succeeded in making a change in the direction of my work, and have come up with a new work method that I want to explore in this 'Reviving an old idea' project. Hopefully I am not rushing into this, but if I do come up with anything that works I will take the time to put up a few little pieces to show. As there is an actual deadline for this project I hope that I can get more than just "a little bit of time to put it up" during the final stages of the project. And maybe a few people will be a little bit surprised at what I have to show... Comments We're glad to provide any constructive feedback and comments. Don't take offense to the character limit. Beautiful art work, but not entirely
